Sebastian Morello is a PhD student at the University of Buckingham. He was supervised for MA research by Roger Scruton, who then supervised his PhD research in political philosophy and Christian ethics until Scruton's death in January 2020. Sebastian has continued his doctoral research on the same subject under the supervision of Dr Andrew Pinsent and Dr Alicja Gescinska. He is a regular wine columnist, and his book on the connection between metaphysics and aesthetics, The World as God's Icon, is to be published by Angelico Press this month.
