

Clemens Cavallin
University of Göteborg

Democratic Criteria and the Shrinking Religious Freedom in Sweden

In this talk professor Clemens Cavallin will discuss the present formulation and implementation in Sweden of democratic criteria for government funding to organizations and activities in civil society, including religious organizations, but also schools. The focus of the talk is on the potential consequences of such criteria, in combination with a stricter formulation and application of the requirement of non-confessionality, especially for schools and preschools with religious profiles.