

Szabolcs Nyiri is a first year PhD student at the ELTE ÁJK PDI. Currently, he is researching ideologies' attitudes towards technological development. His research interests include a political theoretic approach to the phenomenon of social acceleration and philosophy of technology.

Márton Oláh is a second year PhD student at the ELTE ÁJK PDI. He is interested in public policy, institutional trust and political socialization. His research interests include the functioning of student unions.

Péter Szolcsányi, dr. is a second year PhD student at the ELTE ÁJK PDI. He is interested in political communication and political movements. His research interests include the political symbols and their role in contemporary politics.